

The background of the entire image is a dense, overlapping pattern of tropical leaves. The leaves are rendered in various shades of green, from light lime to deep forest green, and some are a vibrant teal or turquoise. The leaves have different shapes, including long, feathery fronds and larger, more complex leaves with natural-looking holes or fenestrations. The pattern is layered, creating a sense of depth and texture.

CARROS